Report of an antisemitic incident

Don't walk past it. Speak up for yourself and your classmates.

Jewish or not, anyone can report it. Antisemitism is hatred of Jews. Fill this in while you still remember what happened, then give it to the principal or head of school, a counselor, or the staff member your school names for these reports. A parent or teacher can hand it in for you. You can report even if you're not sure the person meant it as hate.

Please record this report. I would also like to know what steps the school's policy calls for, and who I can follow up with.

After you hand it in: keep a copy. If you haven't heard back within a few school days, write again or ask to meet. You can also report it to the ADL (adl.org/report-incident) in the United States or CST (cst.org.uk) in the United Kingdom. If anyone is in danger, tell an adult right away. If someone is threatening violence, call the police.
